

Three ways to bid:

Quick bid – click on the red quick bid button to up the current bid amount by $100.00 increment.

Bid Now – Whatever amount you put in the bid field, is the amount that will bid. For Example, If the current bid is $1,000.00 and you do a bid now of $2,000.00, the high bid will jump to $2,000.00

Proxy Bid – Enter your high bid amount and click on the green submit bid button. The system will then bid for you in $100 increments up to your high bid amount.

In both bid options – you will be told right away on the screen if you have the high bid amount or if someone else had a bid (proxi) higher than the amount you entered and you do not have the high bid. If you have the high bid, you will be notified by email if you are outbid during the remainder of the auction.

Proxy bidding is allowed on this auction. Proxy bidders high bid is unpublished and the system will bid for the bidder up to their high bid. The system determines winning bidder based on when the high bid was entered.

Proxy bid amounts can be any amount more than $100 over the current high bid. Proxy bids of odd amounts can cause it to look like the system is not bidding in $100 increments, but at the time the bid was place it was at least $100 or more above the current high bid amount. An example of this is: Current high bid is $500, so a bid of $600 or more is needed. You bid $701.00. The system bids $600, a that's the next $100 increment and then stores your $701 bid to be used against the next bidder. The next bidder comes in and bids $700 – which is $100 more than the current high bid, but your earlier $701 bid beats their current bid, so you retain the high bid at $701. Similarly, if the second bidder had bid $800, Their bid would have gone in at $700, then yours at $701 and then theirs at $800.

The history on each item is not the determining factor in awarding the high bid. This is just a log of bids and does not reflect the date/time a proxy bid was placed. Proxy bids may not be represented in this log.

The system will alert you at the time of your bid if you have won the high bid at that moment. If you are not alerted that you had the high bid, a proxy bid was placed earlier that outbid your bid.
